INSURE.
EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY OF U.S.A. gives the BEST SECURITY.
Lives there a man with soul so dead,
Who never to himself has said,
"I must protect my loving wife,
And leave her loved one dead?"
I would not be a soulless booby,
Who dies and leaves his family poor.
I'll pay a premium every year,
And leave my loved one not in fear.
But what, when I am in my grave,
They'll have the money for my sake.
Or if I live, I'll live for me,
The money will be paid to me.
And at old age, serene and bright,
I shall lead me to the grave.
If you would be a soulless booby,
And wish to find out just how much Premium cost to you will be.
Write, please, or call on us or me.

HONGKONG, SEPTEMBER 28, 1898.

An interesting report by Mr. J. W. Davidson of a visit to the disturbed districts in Formosa will be found in another column.

Unfortunately it does not completely exculpate the Japanese from the charges of wanton cruelty and oppression that have been brought against them. Mr. Davidson was not in the island at the time the rebellion broke out and was therefore personally unacquainted with the circumstances that preceded it, and, as alleged, gave rise to it. He is therefore dependent on information gathered after the event, whereas other Europeans in the south of the island, who were in close touch with the affected districts, and who were in some cases eyewitnesses of the acts of cruelty that are alleged to have been perpetrated by the Japanese, speak of their own knowledge. In the case of Tainan, one of the destroyed villages, Mr. Davidson gives both the Chinese and Japanese accounts of the circumstances under which the village was destroyed, and says the reader can choose for himself, but he says that to him it seems very improbable that Japanese who were being hunted and killed at every opportunity would deliberately increase the horrors of their position by murdering the host of a village by entering a perfectly peaceful community and killing right and left without provocation. But the argument from probability only goes so far, and in the present case it seems to tell more against the Japanese position than that of the Chinese. When the savage instincts of a body of men are aroused and let loose, killing right and left in the direction they naturally take, and men in that frame of mind do not stop to deliberate as to the remote consequences to themselves, but let wild beasts on the impulse of the moment. And unfortunately it would seem that the men in this case and other instances were badly offered, and several officers are according to the Japanese press, to be tried by court-martial for cowardice. Soldiers to a great extent take their tone from their officers, and cowardice and cruelty often go together. On the other hand, if we are to go on the argument of probability, it seems improbable that the helpless Chinese villagers should voluntarily arouse the hostility of troops who had them at their mercy. We are afraid, therefore, that there is little justification to be found for the Japanese. No doubt there were lawless bands of Chinese who were a menace to the peace of the country, but in the operations for their suppression, the officers concerned acted

REBELLION IN MANILA.

According to the latest news from Manila, the rebellion is a more serious matter than was at first supposed. According to a Havas telegram three thousand of the insurgents made an attack on the night of the 20th August, but were repulsed with great loss. That is, we take it, the Government account of the affair. A strict supervision is being exercised over all telegrams leaving Manila and it is impossible to get independent and reliable information direct from that quarter. The Governor-General, however, must necessarily telegraph to Madrid to report the daily course of events; the Madrid Government gives to the newspapers as much of the information as it thinks desirable, and from Madrid the news is sent by the Press agencies to other countries. Thus it happens that the first details as to the attack of the 20th August reached Hongkong only on the 6th September in the shape of a Havas telegram received via Tonkin. So far Reuters has made no mention whatever of the subject, presumably because he thought that Hongkong being so near to Manila would be in possession of all information without his assistance. That, however, is a mistake. Owing to the supervision exercised over telegrams and the determination of the Manila Government to allow no detailed information of the progress of the rebellion to be transmitted except officially to Madrid were left in almost complete darkness. Strange as it may seem, having regard to comparative distances, Madrid is the centre to which we must look for news, and we would suggest to Reuters' agency that the subject should be treated as the most important and interesting of current topics, so far as the Far East is concerned, and especially Hongkong, which is so closely connected with Manila commercially. The occasional arrival of a steamer from Manila will give us an opportunity of learning the news, but communication is now very infrequent, owing to the quarantine regulations in Manila. The last steamer arrived more than a week ago, and the next is not expected for another week, so that we are left a fortnight without news; at a time of great anxiety.

We were at first disposed to think the conspiracy would come to nothing, and even when the first news of a rising came we thought it might possibly turn out to be little more than a riot, but matters have now assumed a different complexion. The telegram from the Consul stating that a serious rebellion had broken out and that there had been a conflict between the rebel forces and Government troops just outside Manila was received on the night of the 31st August, and the next morning a telegram was received from the Manager of the Manila branch reading as follows:—"Small rebellion has broken out in Manila." In our opinion is not serious. "There is no cause for anxiety." This was reassuring so far as it went, but it was noticed that no details are given, and there was a suspicion that it might have been written in such a form as to pass the telegraph censor. Then our contemporary the China Mail made an enterprising attempt to establish a special telegraphic service and its correspondent succeeded in getting one telegram through, but this, though it ran to a good many words, conveyed no definite information except that "the revolution still continues." That was dated the 3rd September. The remainder of the telegram was taken up with statements to the effect that the rising was not so serious as was at first anticipated and that it was believed the Spanish authorities would cope with it successfully. Statements again suggestive of the supervision of the telegraph censor. At last we have, through the Havas agency, some definite information, though brief, as to the conflict of the 29th announced to the insurgents, it seems, made an attack three thousand strong, but were repulsed with great loss. Meanwhile there has been no telegram from the Consul reporting an improvement in the situation, from which the inference is to be drawn that he still regards it as serious. This the insurgents were able to make their first assault three thousand strong goes to show that they must be in considerable force. The Government troops number only about fifteen thousand, not all of whom are stationed in Manila, and if the disposition of the Government would be critical. The Government's real strength, however, lies in the support of the priests, who exercise an almost unbounded influence over the natives, except as regards a section in the large towns. The revolutionary party, we believe, have no strength outside Manila, and without the country at their back they cannot hope for permanent success. It is conceivable, however, that in Manila itself they may give a good deal of trouble and cause serious interference with business until order is once again firmly established.

There has not been a single case of plague in the colony since last Saturday week.

The C. P. steamer Empress of India arrived at Nagasaki at 6 a.m. yesterday and left at 2 p.m. for Kobe.

The O.S.S. Co's steamer Palmdorf, from Liverpool, left Singapore on Friday afternoon the 4th inst., and is due here on or about Thursday, the 10th inst.

REBELLION IN MANILA.

At a special meeting of the Shanghai Volunteer Arsenal, which was unanimously decided, Major B. A. Clarke presided. Second Lieut. Cameron was elected First Lieutenant. There were several motions for second Lieut. Cameron to be elected First Lieutenant, but they were all rejected. The Arsenal was then adjourned until the 1st of September.

The suggestion of the Hon. Mr. Chang Chih-ying, private tutor to H.E. Chang Chih-ying, son, has contributed to the Chinese cause in the island, with the assistance of the foreign press, and the late occurrences, however, it would unfortunately seem that there was little or no exaggeration in the first accounts that were published.

A DEADLOCK IN THE TIENTSIN SHIPPING TRADE.

For some time past there has been considerable friction between the Taku Tug and Lighter people and the three big local steamship companies doing business at Tientsin. On latest information on the subject is that matters are now at a complete deadlock. It would seem that the trouble arose owing to a circumstance entirely beyond the control of both parties to the dispute, namely, the sailing up of the Pei, which necessitated the employment of the lighter company of shallovers draft Chinese boats to carry the cargo up more than half the distance to Tientsin owing to their own craft being unable to navigate the upper reaches of the northern ditch that serves as an appropriate approach to China's capital. As might well be expected, this device allowed the Pei boat population an ample opportunity to plunder the cargo entrusted to their tender mercies, once it left the T. T. & L. Co's boats, and needless also that the local shallovers did not neglect the opportunities which doubtless they considered specially sent by heaven for their particular benefit. Protests by the shipping companies were of no avail, and the shallovers they sought to persuade the T. T. & L. Co. to undertake entire responsibility for the safe arrival of cargo entrusted to it in Tientsin, to which, under the circumstances, the Company was very loath to agree. The result was that the China Merchants Co., whose steamers discharge along-side Tientsin wharf, made arrangements with the Railway Company to carry their cargo up to Tientsin by rail, while the other two big steamship companies, which have to discharge midstream, have had to engage native lighters to take their cargo up to Tientsin. In this way the shallovers and coast folk, the T. T. & L. Co. have found themselves deprived of their main support and many are lying idle in the meanwhile. But is all right for the shipping companies to let the shallovers have plenty of water on the bar. But with the approach of the season when vessels will have to lighter outside that obstruction in rough water, into which no Chinese boat will venture, we expect to see the Taku Tug and Lighter people take the wicket and play a lively innings, in which they will make up handsomely and to spare for lost time.—China Gazette.

MELANCHOLY AFFAIR AT KORE.

A sad affair occurred this morning, says the Kosei Shimbun of 21st August, which recalls the recent death of Mr. Bruck. Mr. A. Bruck, of Messrs Popp & Co., No. 70, Stationer, died himself this morning. Whether the wound was the result of an accident or intentional is not clear. It is understood that there is a hope of his recovery. The sad affair will cast a deep gloom over the community, the German portion thereof more particularly, with whom the understanding and sympathy are very popular. The foregoing appeared in this morning's Supplement. We regret to say Mr. Bruck expired at 10.30 a.m. Mrs. Miller and Papouler were summoned as quickly as possible, but also patient was dead before they arrived. Various reports are current in explanation of the deplorable occurrence, but we cannot say that any good would be served by endeavouring to do the worst from the worst. Mr. Bruck, who, as mentioned above, was a general favourite, was only 24 years of age, we believe, and had not been a resident of the port two years. He was a native of Hamburg, where his parents, who are wealthy people, we understand, still reside. The funeral, it is said, is appointed to take place to-morrow.

JAPAN AND THE GOLD STANDARD.

The Eastern World says—Rumours have been current to the effect that Japan will shortly issue the gold standard and that that the cause of the recent fall in silver. Japan will do nothing of the kind. All its silver industries are founded on a silver basis and the silver dollar is essential to their continued success. Besides, the gold standard of the United States is only $100,000,000, which would be only some forty million gold yen, and the question is whether it is really a reserve. The reserve and the gold standard of the United States is only $100,000,000, which would be only some forty million gold yen, and the question is whether it is really a reserve. A NAVAL DOCK AT SINGAPORE.

"Tropics" is a letter follows in the letter of "Edward H." follows. It certainly has astonished many that our Admiralty made choice of other places while in Singapore they have one of the most central and healthiest harbours in the world, and the most convenient route from this country to India and China, and central to so large a British seaboard, where a naval dock would be generally useful, and can be made safe from attack. Evidently, Singapore is one of the most centrally situated for the purpose of coaling, and I, therefore, venture to mention its many special advantages. The full text of the letter is as follows: "We have been looking in the paper of 'The Dock' for Singapore, raised in our issue of July 25th by a correspondent whose communications were formerly backed up by another correspondent. Singapore is already a fortified naval coaling station, and the Government have promised to spend a considerable sum upon it, but we quite agree that this is the spot naturally marked out for a large dock capable of floating the largest ship in the Royal Navy. We find correspondents a valuable and qualified to speak on this question, and who has Singapore feeling strongly with him, sends us a map illustrating the remarkably central position occupied by Singapore, and a circular showing a map for yourself, and draw a circle passing through Aden, the north-east corner of British East Africa, the centre of Madagascar, Sydney, and the island of Java, and reaching the Eastern Archipelago, and the Great River of the world, the tremendous advantages of Singapore's central position will convince you at once. They have convinced us."
